

Will Writing & Estate Planning from Assurewills:

Will Drafting & Estate Planning Advice: Since developing our alliance with Ethical Investors Group back in 2010 to provide Will writing and estate planning services for their clients Assurewills have been able to assist many individuals by advising on and drafting Will documents, advanced medical directives, lasting powers of attorney, and providing advice with regard to their estate assets and inheritance tax.

Planning in advance is essential, and having a well drafted and up to date Will can ensure your wishes are clearly indicated and will be acted upon, and also provide protection for property and other assets to ensure they reach your desired beneficiaries.

Will documents should be reviewed on a regular basis to ensure they are current and still meet your wishes, and we are happy to undertake reviews of existing Will documents on behalf of Ethical Investor Group clients free of charge.

Advanced Medical Directive (Living Wills): In addition to producing a client's main Will we are also able to advise on and produce advanced medical directives, also known as living Wills, where you are able to detail any medical treatments you do not wish to have in the future. This type of document will only be used should you ever be in a position where you cannot communicate your decision yourself.

Lasting powers of attorney: From our experience lasting powers of attorney should now be seen as a vital part of overall financial and estate planning. These documents allow you to choose individuals who you trust now (a spouse, relatives and/or friends), known as your Attorneys, to make decisions on your behalf about things such as your financial affairs, or health and welfare issues, at a time in the future when you may no longer wish to make those decisions, or should you lack the mental capacity due to illness, accident or the advancement of old age, to make those decisions yourself.

The press has highlighted recently the helpless position families can be placed in if you lose the capacity to manage your affairs without having made provision with a lasting power of attorney. The simple solution is to have the documents drafted now, and again we are happy to advise on the best way structuring these documents, and complete both the drafting and registration process on your behalf.

Assurewills will be delighted to help you with drafting a new Will or reviewing an existing Will, along with any other estate planning advice which is relevant to you.
